Description
-------------

Oxford University Press (OUP) is a leading educational publisher for British and International curriculum. Our specialist International Sales team is dedicated to helping schools around the world choose the best resources for their needs. Our Middle East team is based in the region and able to provide on-the-spot support to BSME schools. Primary level highlights for 2012/13 include Dubai based professional Development session for Read Write Inc and Numicon and brand new online teacher support for our much-loved Oxford Reading Tree series. At secondary level, we are continuing to work alongside Cambridge International Examinations and the International Baccalaureate to produce top-quality resources for students and teachers.
